

LEGO®-based Therapy Workshop

For parents and professionals working with people on the Autism Spectrum

Research has shown that LEGO®-based Therapy can help those on the Autism Spectrum learn social skills. Our fun, interactive workshop outlines the framework introduced by Daniel LeGoff and Gina Gomez de la Cuesta. June Grindley, our trainer, explains her own experience of successfully using this technique since 2010. With time to practise what you're learning and a pack with materials to start you off, you'll leave knowing how to begin your own sessions.
