

DO YOU WANT TO TAKE PART IN RESEARCH INTERVIEWS?

Hi! My name is Lorna, I'm a researcher at Heriot-Watt University. I am interested in hearing about your experience of moving to secondary school, and about your well-being during that time.

What will this involve?

- 1h (max) face-to-face interviews
- At your house (or anywhere that is comfortable for you, even online).

Who can take part?

If you are autistic, are between 12 and 18 years old, and moved from primary to secondary school in the UK, you can participate!

How to take part

If you want to participate, or want more information on this research study, you can contact me by email at lc97@hw.ac.uk.

Moving to secondary school

According to the National Autistic Society, moving to secondary school can be a very stressful time for autistic children. I hope to find out if that was the case for you and why, and how we can improve it.

Well-being

Many research studies have found higher stress and lower mood in autistic children and adults than in neurotypical children and adults. We are still trying to find out why that is the case, and this study will help understand your experience of this.
