

WHAT'S THE NEURODIVERGENT BRAIN ON MUSIC?

- We are looking for participants for an online study exploring how people experience and engage with music in daily life, with a focus on neurodivergent adults with and without formal diagnoses of autism and ADHD, and those who self-identify as neurodivergent.
- The study involves completing some games/tasks and questionnaires, takes 30-40 minutes to complete and is best done in one sitting.
- Lucky participants will win £50 vouchers and can also opt-in for follow-up studies offering direct financial compensation.
