

CALL FOR RESEARCH PARTICIPANTS

Are you a working-aged female who experiences neurodivergent traits but has not received a formal diagnosis?

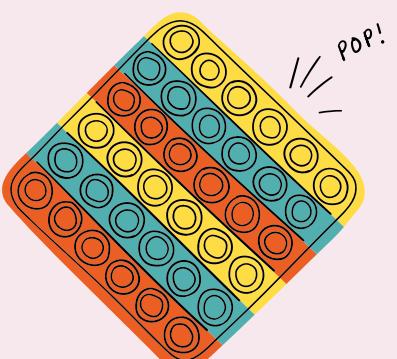

What is the research aim?

My Honours Dissertation research aims to examine how women who suspect neurodivergent traits ensure their needs are adequately met in the absence of a formal diagnosis.

What is involved?

I will be conducting one-to-one online, or in-person semi-structured interviews to examine the positive and challenging experiences of self-understanding and identifying.

Who can take part?

- Open to female participants
- You are aged 18+
- You self-identify or are self-diagnosed as neurodivergent, also referred to as autistic, ADHD, AuDHD, as well as other neurological differences

Do you fit the criteria and are interested in participating?

If you wish to participate, or have any further questions, please email me at tedwar300@caledonain.ac.uk - Taylor Edwards
