are you autistic and pregnant?

get involved in our autism research!

we are looking to explore how autistic indivduals' bodily experiences during pregnancy can influence antenatal attachment and experience of becoming a mother who can participate?

- aged 18 or older
- are autistic (diagnosis or no diagnosis)
- are currently pregnant
- can read and understand English

what's involved?

- online questionnaire
- approximately 10-15 minutes
- asking questions about:
  - body satisfaction, body sensations, social identity as a mother, antenatal attachment and breastfeeding intention interested?

scan the qr code or visit the website to participate in the study!:

https://qualtrics.ucl.ac.uk/jfe/form/SV_6xT6aUXa451XLT0

contact us for information or enquiries:

c.ho.25@ucl.ac.uk (Yin Ho, researcher) abbie.bishop@annafreud.org (Abbie Bishop, project supervisor)

catherine.preston@york.ac.uk (Catherine Preston, collaborator)

UCL

Anna Freud
building the mental wellbeing of the next generation

University of York